

Mason Area Rural Schools

Compiled by the Mason Area Historical Society in 2013

In the early 1880s settlers began moving into the Mason, Wisconsin area. The families' need for their children's education was filled by the "One-Room Rural Schools". This is a story about the successful education received in these schools. The Mason area one-room rural schools era began in the 1870's and closed in the early 1950's.
